Hiring Team

Leap

Dear Hiring Team,

I am excited to apply for the Knowledge Operations Lead role at Leap. Your mission to bring efficiency and professionalism to the home improvement industry resonates with me, having spent the past six years in this space—first with HomeAdvisor (Angi) and later as an Operations Consultant at Thumbtack. In both roles, I was at the intersection of knowledge management, AI integration, and support operations.

At Thumbtack, I partnered directly with our official Knowledge team via Jira, Slack, and Alessian to manage knowledge workflows, build and maintain SOPs, training decks, talking points, and 40+ knowledge base articles. I also leveraged Coda and other content platforms to create living documentation hubs and scalable playbooks. Beyond documentation, I integrated AI into support workflows, designing automation and QA tools that improved accuracy, reduced resolution time from two days to under one hour, and equipped 100+ frontline agents with clear, actionable guidance.

When a new organizational leader joined Thumbtack and dissolved the entire Operations apparatus, my role was eliminated as part of that change. It wasn't performance-related — but it was a turning point. Rather than step back, I built my own AI training bootcamp and methodology: a scalable, repeatable framework for turning disruption into enablement. That project, detailed on kylemohney.com/articles, reinforced my belief that knowledge, when structured and accessible, empowers both people and organizations to thrive.

You can also view articles I helped to maintain and edit at help.thumbtack.com.

Leap's vision of knowledge-driven efficiency is exactly where I excel: configuring systems like Salesforce Service Cloud and Zendesk, designing knowledge architectures for support deflection, and translating product updates into training and enablement content that sticks. For a deeper look at my professional background and a live demonstration of my approach to knowledge management, I invite you to visit kylemohney.com/resume. To connect directly, you can reach me at kylemohney.com/contact, where you can also schedule time with me via my YouCanBook.me.

Thank you for your time and consideration. I would welcome the chance to contribute my background in home services, knowledge operations (including Alessian and Coda), and AI integration to Leap's mission of transforming the home improvement industry. And if you find that my background may be better suited for another role at Leap, I would be equally excited to explore those opportunities.

Sincerely,

Kyle J. Mohny
